

Proven Solutions for the Global Compression Industry™

Dear CPI Customers,

As the coronavirus (COVID-19) situation continues to evolve, we at Compressor Products International understand the delicate position facing our customers and community. We are closely monitoring developments with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and World Health Organization and we want to update our customers on the measures and guidance we have in place to support the health and safety of all customers, employees and vendors. To ensure that all staff remain safe and healthy, our site management teams have taken numerous countermeasures to limit the potential exposures to our employees, their families, our customers, vendors and the expanse of our world connections network. If you need details about the actions we have taken, we'd be happy to provide that information to you.

As it currently stands, CPI will continue to be manufacturing products, shipping products and servicing our customers during this time and have contingency plans to further utilize our global manufacturing and service capabilities.

Please reach out to your local CPI representatives for any further information around orders, quotes, inquiries or general information or contact our customer service group via email (CustomerServiceUS@c-p-i.com) or phone (+1-281-207-4600).

Please stay safe and as always, we appreciate your business!

Regards,

Bill Favenesi

President
Compressor Products International